Executive Summary

(The following summary is from Wood County EMA) Governor DeWine stated that we don't not have enough N95 masks and that these masks are so very important. He reported that they are working very hard on trying to source these masks. This problem is not unique to Ohio. Battelle Lab has developed a machine with the capability to sterilize 80,000 masks per day. Battelle Labs is a Columbus based company. They have two of these machines in Ohio. He stressed that getting these on line is urgent. We have been waiting for FDA approval. This morning, the FDA approved it, but not for 80,000/day as desired. The governor stated that this made him very angry. At that point, he called President Trump, and had a great conversation to make sure this got done today. Also, he has been in contact with senators and congressman regarding this matter. The press conference today is to appeal directly to the FDA and express to other states that help on the way if we can get this approved. Several minutes ago, the FDA commissioner called Governor DeWine as he was heading into the FDA situation room, and he said this would be cleared up today and he thought we would be able to get what we wanted. We have not gotten the approval yet, but the governor is hopeful. This press conference today was held to draw attention to this matter.

According to Battelle, their process uses hydrogen peroxide vapor, and their testing began 2 years ago. The masks will be under pressure for 2 hours, let sit for 6 hours to release the hydrogen peroxide. With their process each mask can be sterilized up to 20 times without causing any degradation to the mask. The process will go as follows: hospitals will collect the masks, they get wrapped in plastic. They get placed into another bag and couriered to the Battelle facility. Then with Battelle staff in full PPE, these masks get loaded into storage containers with liners and sensors. Then they get pressurized with hydrogen peroxide for sterilization, then they package the same masks up and send back to the same hospitals. They would start this process tomorrow in Ohio if they get the approval today. They plan on taking masks from all over the state.

Governor DeWine delivered the news that an Ohio company has 2 pieces of equipment that if the FDA would approve their use, could sanitize up to 160,000 masks per day for re-use thus relieving some of the strain on procuring masks for health professional. The Governor made a public plea to the FDA to expedite approval of this technology. The Governor also made a public plea to private labs to report their tests and findings to the Ohio Department of Health to assist in planning purposes.

Governor DeWine reports that there is now an email set up to coordinate donations and offers to help. This address is together@governor.ohio.gov.

Dr. Acton reports there is a new coronavirus interactive dashboard at <https://coronavirus.ohio.gov/wps/portal/gov/covid-19/home/dashboard>.

Lt. Governor Husted reinforced that health departments should not be called for interpretations of the rules only for enforcement. He suggested that people visit the unemployment website at varying times of the day because it is open 24/7.

The American Red Cross now faces a severe blood shortage due to an unprecedented number of blood drive cancellations in response to the coronavirus outbreak. Across the country, more than 9,000 blood drives have been canceled, resulting in more than 250,000 uncollected blood donations. Blood donation is considered an essential service to ensure the health of the community and is listed as an exception in the state order. While everyone is being asked to avoid mass gatherings, it's very important to note that blood drives are not considered "mass gatherings." Blood drives are controlled events with trained staff and appropriate safety measures to protect donors and our staff. The Red Cross remains open to take blood donations and people are encouraged to continue to donate blood so hospital patient care can continue.

The Red Cross has implemented new measures to ensure blood drives and donation centers are even safer for our donors and staff, including:

- Checking the temperature of staff and donors before entering a drive to make sure they are healthy
- Providing hand sanitizer for use before the drive, as well as throughout the donation process
- Spacing beds to follow social distancing practices between blood donors
- Increasing enhanced disinfecting of surfaces and equipment.

Together, we must ensure a readily available blood supply for patients who are counting on us. Individuals can schedule an appointment to give blood with the American Red Cross by visiting RedCrossBlood.org, using the Red Cross Blood Donor App, calling 1-800-RED-CROSS or activating the Blood Scheduling Skill for Amazon Alexa.

unable to care for themselves. We have distributed the resources that we have maintained and looking for ways to support other agencies who support individuals with Developmental Disabilities.

As per the Governor's order, schools are closed through April 3rd for the time being. Some schools are providing breakfast and lunch, delivered to sectors around the area for students and teachers are reaching out to students to assist them in learning while at home.

Administration

FEMA is working with the states to get their agreements in place for an Emergency Declaration. This is very different than a Disaster Declaration. The Department of Health and Human Services will be the lead on this Emergency Declaration, and this is unprecedented. It is vital that agencies that are experiencing extra costs in overtime, supplies, etc. keep a detailed record of expenses and time worked. There is no guarantee right now that these expenses will be reimbursed through FEMA, however, if there is a match required for grants or relief, overtime, volunteer time and time worked outside of regular hours, if documented, could be used to offset match requirements. Requests for Public Assistance applications will be distributed to government entities, hospitals and other health-related organizations and schools and universities.

This daily situational report will be sent around 4 p.m. each day M-F and as needed over the weekend. If you wish to update or add information to this report, please get it to the EMA at jspahr@senecacountyohio.gov by 2:30 p.m. each day.
