This provides the needed flexibility to address the crisis: bolster telehealth, waive signature requirements to ensure safe distancing, ease obstacles to access nursing home care, allow services to be provided at alternate locations, remove staffing level requirements. This should allow health care workers to focus on meeting the needs of Ohioans. Once they get the approval it will be retroactively applied from 3/1/20. The Donation Center at the Public Safety building will be accepting donations from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. M-F. Blood Collection

The American Red Cross now faces a severe blood shortage due to an unprecedented number of blood drive cancellations in response to the coronavirus outbreak. Blood donation is considered an essential service to ensure the health of the community and is listed as an exception in the state order. While everyone is being asked to avoid mass gatherings, it's very important to note that blood drives are not considered "mass gatherings."

Administration

The House 2020 Economic Recovery Committee held another meeting today via video conference. Today's witnesses included Neil Tilow from Talbert House, Joe Savarise with the Ohio Hotel Association, John Barker with the Ohio Restaurant Association and Tony Fiore with the Ohio Salon Association.

Representative Upchurch provided the committee with some opening remarks saying that the minority party had concerns with the direction the committee is trending and said that he hopes that the legislators are not ignoring the advice of Director Acton and other medical professionals who warn of too hastily reopening businesses.

Neil Tilow with Talbert House, which helps with prevention, assessment, treatment and reintegration for individuals who have struggled with substance abuse and other mental health needs, made five recommendations for policies that they believe should be implemented once businesses begin to reopen. Those recommendations include continuing telehealth coverage beyond the state of emergency, as well as requiring private insurers to cover those services. He also urged passage of House Bill 365 (Gayle Manning), which will allow for a rapid expansion of the behavioral health workforce.

Joe Savarise and John Barker with the Ohio Hotel Association and Ohio Restaurant Association respectively told the committee of the severe impact that the closures have had on their members. Ohio has lost $200 million in hotel revenue as of April 4th, and 30% of the state's hotels are anticipated to close in the next 10 days because of a lack of revenue. 51% of Ohio's restaurants have closed throughout the state restrictions, with 3% already deciding to close permanently. An issue the committee and witnesses agreed needs to be addressed is employees' decisions to not come back to work immediately because they might be getting more money from the state and federal assistance programs, which is an issue that has already started to impact hotels and restaurants.

Tony Fiore with the Ohio Salon Association addressed the additional struggles that their industry has faced with many employees being 1099 employees who are unable to currently qualify for unemployment benefits. Ohio is working to get the system established so these employees are able to receive benefits, however, Fiore said he believes that the system is still another three to four weeks away.

Chairman Zeltwanger will be providing committee members with an initial document outlining a blueprint for the reopening of Ohio businesses that they will begin to use as they work on their recommendations.

The committee will meet again tomorrow starting at 12:30 p.m. and may be adding additional dates to accommodate the large amount of feedback they have received.

This daily situational report will be sent around 4 p.m. each day M-F and as needed over the weekend. If you wish to update or add information to this report, please get it to the EMA at jspahr@senecacountyohio.gov by 2:30 p.m. each day.
